Excerpt from Logic This book is a reissue with alterations and additions of my Deductive Logic published towards the close of 1888. It is now called by a wider name because the treatment of Inductive Inference has been included. My main obligations in preparing the new edition are to Mr. J. N. Keynes, who seems justly entitled to become one of our chief legislators on logical terminology. In a work which appeared at the same time as my own Father Clarke laid the English-speaking world under his debt by an exposition of the Scholastic Logic in which there is not a dull page from beginning to end. Other books which I should like to mention are Shutes Discourse on Truth, Weltons Manual of Logic, Mintos Logic, nductive and Deductive, and the new edition of the Palaestra Logica. I have to thank Mr. E. L. Hawkins of Merton College, and Mr. F. G. Brabant of Corpus Christi College, Oxford, for some helpful criticisms while the work was in progress. The keen eyes of Mr. George Holden, sub-librarian of All Souls College, detected some mistakes in the first edition which had escaped other observation.
